Message from President Reed

Greetings MARC ACSM members!

We wish you all a smooth start to this Fall Semester, particularly given the current circumstances. While we wish we could be meeting with you all in person in November, we are looking forward to providing you with an informative and exciting one day virtual program on Friday, November 6th, 2020. We will kick off the day with our Keynote Talk at 8:00am, "Is there a Metabolic Program for Obesity (and can exercise help)" by Dr. Joseph Houmard, Professor of Kinesiology at East Carolina University. Our preliminary program will be available soon with much more information about our student sessions, featured symposium topics, and clinical content.

New and exciting this year is material that will be available in advance prior to the live sessions on November 6. On Friday October 30, all poster presentations will be available for viewing. There will be an opportunity to comment on the posters and have a conversation with the poster presenters in an asynchronous manner. Further, our invited speakers will have material uploaded in advance of their live sessions on Nov. 6. Faculty, this is a great opportunity to build the conference into your classes. Look for some tips on how to do that next week! Student registration will be free this year and the professional fee will be $25.

Lastly, abstract submissions open TODAY! The submission site will be open until Friday, September 4th.

Wishing you a safe and healthy Fall 2020!

Melissa and the MARC ACSM Executive Board
