Conducted on Saturday March 20, 2021 from 1PM-2:30PM

(To be presented as a video at the GNYRC-ACSM Virtual Annual Spring Meeting on April 10, 2021)

Join us to be the next team to compete at the ACSM Virtual Student Bowl at the 2021 ACSM Annual Meeting
June 1-5, 2021

Teams, Format, and Rules for Questioning

1. Teams will consist of 3 undergraduate students representing institutions from the Greater New York Regional Chapter of the American College of Sports Medicine. Each institution can enter one team. Participating students must be available to compete in the virtual student bowl at the ACSM Virtual National Meeting on June 1-5, 2021 (Date and time not yet available)
  - a. Each team member must be an undergraduate student enrolled in a degree program that would qualify for ACSM Professional Membership at the time of the competition.
  - b. Each team must be sponsored by a faculty member from their institution who must be available to participate in the GNYRC-ACSM Virtual Student Bowl on March 20, 2021
  - c. In the event that a student team member is unable to participate in the competition, it is permissible to substitute another student from the same institution if they meet the aforementioned criteria. Substitutions must be approved by the sponsoring faculty member and the emcee prior to the start of the competition.
2. Each team and a faculty sponsor (from a different school) will meet via a Zoom (type) conference at 1PM on March 20, 2021. The faculty sponsor will be assigned a school team before March 20. The team sponsor will be given contact information for their assigned team members in order to invite them to the virtual meeting. We anticipate that most participating faculty have the ability to set-up a virtual conference with the 3 student team members. Technical assistance from the GNYRC will be made available by contacting markcaselli@gmail.com.
3. The faculty sponsors will receive a Student Bowl Question sheet with answers by email about 12:30 PM on March 20.
4. The Student Bowl questions/answers will follow a Jeopardy format, including a) 5 questions in each of 5 categories: Strength and Conditioning; Exercise Physiology; Anatomy and Physiology; Applied Anatomy; and Pathophysiology, b) Each category will have 5 levels of questions ranging from 100 to 500 points.
5. Faculty sponsor will read each question twice, then begin to time the response. Each team will have 20 seconds per question. Any team member can request a question to be repeated during the 20 second time period. Each student team will pre-select one member of their team to be the team “scribe” who will present their team’s answer both verbally and in writing. The faculty sponsor will be provided with the questions in the order that they are to be read.

6. The faculty sponsor will record the team’s answer on the provided score sheet, whether correct, incorrect, or no response, and calculate the score. A correct answer receives the points which are assigned to the question and added to the team’s score. For an incorrect answer, the points are subtracted from the score. For no response, the score remains the same.
7. Question Challenges: Judges will be available with the Student Bowl organizer team at the same time as the individual student team meetings, so that a faculty sponsor can contact the Student Bowl team (by phone) to discuss the answer being challenged and receive a judgement.
8. Each individual Student Bowl Zoom meeting is to be recorded and sent to markcaselli@gmail.com to be later edited to create a Student Bowl video presentation for the GNYRC Spring Meeting on April 10, 2021.
9. The winning teams will be revealed at the conclusion of the GNYRC-ACSM 2021 Virtual Student Bowl presentation at the GNYRC Virtual Annual Spring Meeting on 4/10/2021.
