

8/26/2018

Exercise Science, Assistant Professor. Elon University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Exercise Science, beginning mid-August, 2019. Completion of a PhD in Kinesiology, Exercise Science, or a closely related field before August 2019 is preferred. Areas of expertise include Sport and Exercise Psychology, Health Psychology, Public Health with a Physical Activity Emphasis, Behavioral Aspects of Physical Activity, or the Neuroscience of Movement. This position requires someone who brings an interdisciplinary perspective to exercise science, who can demonstrate significant and sustained teaching related to exercise science, whose research agenda is translational to the undergraduate setting, and expands on the department's current expertise. Teaching will include courses in the Exercise Science program (e.g., sport and exercise psychology), and may extend into courses in Elon Core Curriculum, or related interdisciplinary programs (e.g. neuroscience, public health studies, women and gender studies). Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of people, and who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in their cover letter.

The Exercise Science Department is one of the largest departments in the College of Arts and Sciences with over 220 majors. Faculty are actively engaged in mentoring undergraduate research in a variety of areas including: multidisciplinary concussion research; dance biomechanics; performance enhancement; energy metabolism and body composition; and neuromotor control and learning in special populations to name a few. For a more extensive list of current courses and research areas as well as more information about Exercise Science faculty, students, and facilities visit: <https://www.elon.edu/u/academics/arts-and-sciences/exercise-science/>.

In accordance with the Elon Teacher-Scholar model (<https://www.elon.edu/u/administration/provost/elon-teacher-scholar-statement/>), applicants should demonstrate evidence as an effective teacher, be able to establish and/or continue a purposeful program of scholarship, and have interest and/or experience mentoring undergraduates in collaborative research. Elon is a dynamic private, co-educational, comprehensive institution that is a national model for actively engaging faculty and students in teaching and learning in a liberal arts based residential campus. To learn more about Elon, please visit the University web site at <http://www.elon.edu/>.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until position is filled. Applications must be received by December 19, 2018 to be assured of consideration. Send letter of application (which should include evidence of teaching effectiveness and research interests), CV, transcripts (can be unofficial), and contact information for at least three references. All materials should be sent to: ExerciseSearch@elon.edu. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact the chair of the search, Dr. Eric Hall (ehall@elon.edu).

Elon University is an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff and student body and welcomes all applicants.

Exercise Science, Assistant Professor. Elon University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Exercise Science, beginning mid-August, 2019. Completion of a PhD in Kinesiology, Exercise Science, or a closely related field before August 2019 is preferred. Areas of expertise include Sport and Exercise Psychology, Health Psychology, Public Health with a Physical Activity Emphasis, Behavioral Aspects of Physical Activity, or the Neuroscience of Movement. This position requires someone who brings an interdisciplinary perspective to exercise science, who can demonstrate significant and sustained teaching related to exercise science, whose research agenda is translational to the undergraduate setting, and expands on the department's current expertise. Teaching will include courses in the Exercise Science program (e.g., sport and exercise psychology), and may extend into courses in Elon Core Curriculum, or related interdisciplinary programs (e.g. neuroscience, public health studies, women and gender studies). Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of people, and who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in their cover letter.

The Exercise Science Department is one of the largest departments in the College of Arts and Sciences with over 220 majors. Faculty are actively engaged in mentoring undergraduate research in a variety of areas including: multidisciplinary concussion research; dance biomechanics; performance enhancement; energy metabolism and body composition; and neuromotor control and learning in special populations to name a few. For a more extensive list of current courses and research areas as well as more information about Exercise Science faculty, students, and facilities visit: <https://www.elon.edu/u/academics/arts-and-sciences/exercise-science/>.

In accordance with the Elon Teacher-Scholar model (<https://www.elon.edu/u/administration/provost/elon-teacher-scholar-statement/>), applicants should demonstrate evidence as an effective teacher, be able to establish and/or continue a purposeful program of scholarship, and have interest and/or experience mentoring undergraduates in collaborative research. Elon is a dynamic private, co-educational, comprehensive institution that is a national model for actively engaging faculty and students in teaching and learning in a liberal arts based residential campus. To learn more about Elon, please visit the University web site at <http://www.elon.edu/>.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until position is filled. Applications must be received by December 19, 2018 to be assured of consideration. Send letter of application (which should include evidence of teaching effectiveness and research interests), CV, transcripts (can be unofficial), and contact information for at least three references. All materials should be sent to: ExerciseSearch@elon.edu . If you have any questions, please feel free to contact the chair of the search, Dr. Eric Hall (ehall@elon.edu).

Elon University is an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff and student body and welcomes all applicants.